Comment:Oxford University has far too much power over property in Oxford. If they had their way every building would be student accommodation.

They seem to forget that not all residents of Oxford are students, some are residents who have lived in and around the city for their whole lives and have seen facilities, shops, pubs, clubs, restaurants etc eroded away to be student accommodation.

This pub is an important part of the Oxford live music scene, which has also been a casualty of the spreading take over of the city by the university.
