Comment Reasons:

Comment: To whom it may concern,

COMMENTS REDACTED Whilst it is a shame for a tree to come down, if this one in particular is diseased I see no other option.

It directly over hangs into our garden, and branches often fall onto our lawn. This is a safety concern, COMMENTS REDACTED

Whats more of a safety concern is that this particular area receives strong gusts of wind on a regular basis coming from the valley/moor land near us. If the tree is diseased there is a significant risk that the tree or its branches could topple down and cause serious damage to either the houses or our gardens.

Kinds regards

John Wilkie
