Comment: As a former Oxford resident born and raised there I would love the opportunity to move back and live in my hometown, however the lack of affordable homes for residence is abhorrent. Students are more than catered for, as well as luxury housing, but people with young families are forgotten. I therefore have been unable to return to my home town and all my sister's have been forced to move to cheaper towns as well. Plus this venue was a huge part of my youth growing up, and it would be a shame to lose another important part of Oxford, a town renowned for its band culture and local talent. All the changes to the town it is unrecognisable, due to exorbitant rent prices for small family owned business. Locals are here all year round and not just term time, they pay taxes and should also be considered as important when decisions are made. I know as I am no longer a resident, my opinion will probably not be considered, but I am glad to at least still be able to voice my opinion.
