1. Design

The design of the interior brings the building back to the original residential use, when the building was constructed in c1820. The floor plan remains as when constructed with rooms leading from the staircase in the north east corner.

2. Use

The proposed use is a single family dwelling.

3. Amount

There will be one dwelling.

4. Layout

The internal layout respects the original house layout, with new non-loadbearing partitions on the first and second floors to form new bathrooms.

5. Scale

The proposed use is for a single dwelling, which aligns with the c1820 use.

6. Appearance

The external appearance will remain unaltered.

7. Access

The existing door leading from Ganton Street will be retained as the access into the building.
