WARNING OF CALM BEFORE THE STORM

PETER MADELEY

peter.madeley@mnamedia.co.uk

Our region is “on the cusp of something quite dangerous” as cases of the Indian variant continue to rise, an expert warned today

Dr Lisa McNally said the West Midlands was experiencing the “calm before the storm” after the number of Covid cases went up by more than 40 per cent in a week.

She said the fact that large numbers of people had still not been vaccinated meant there was a risk of Covid hospital admission rates starting to rise again.

It came as MPs urged ministers to “follow the science” amid calls to delay the ending of restrictions on June 21.

The Indian variant is now dominant in the West Midlands. Cases rose by 41 per cent in the week to June 1. Birmingham’s infection rate is up to 42 cases per 100,000 people and Walsall’s is at 35.

Dr McNally, Sandwell’s director of public health, said: “This is the calm before the storm. We are seeing cases rise quite sharply. We’ve had 26 cases in Sandwell over Saturday and Sunday. The weekend before there were only nine. When you look at the figures you can see we are on the cusp of something quite dangerous.”

Dr McNally said she was concerned there were still too many people who had not had the vaccine, and noted “particular gaps” among “certain ethnic groups”.

“If we thought we had seen the back of this pandemic we were wrong, because it is about to get back up off the floor and slap us on the back of the head.”

Bostin pirates swashbuckle their way into museum

Pirates have joined the usual historic characters to be found at the Black Country Living Museum, which is enjoying a busy half term

Watch out – pirates are on the prowl on our historic waterways.

These dubious characters have landed at the Black Country Living Museum.

They are part of a week of fun being held in glorious sunshine that is running alongside the attraction’s normal exhibits to mark half term. The museum has launched a ‘Loff Out Loud’ theme to celebrate the region’s bostin’ sense of humour, including a ‘rib-tickling trail’ around the site.

Further 23 virus deaths in region’s care homes

A further 23 virus deaths have been confirmed in care homes across the Black Country, Birmingham and Staffordshire.

And three deaths were confirmed in the region’s hospitals in the latest figures – meaning the total number of Covid deaths in hospitals increased to 7,602.

Meanwhile the latest 23 deaths confirmed in the region’s care homes means 1,459 have died. Across the UK there has been another 12 deaths taking the total to 127,794. The most up-to-date statistics show 65,658,949 jabs have been given in the UK. Of those, 39,585,665 were first doses, and 26,073,284 second doses.

Pop-up clinics launched to boost vaccine efforts

Pop-up vaccination clinics are being set up in parts of the Black Country to encourage people to take up the Covid jab.

The community pop-up clinics are being held for people in Dudley to access without a prior appointment.

They will be available at Chapel Street Surgery, in Lye, every Wednesday until June 30 from 1pm to 5pm; and Halesowen Cultural Centre every Thursday from today until June 24 from 9.30am to 5.30pm.

To have the Covid vaccine, people will need their NHS number, proof of age and employment ID if they are health and social care staff.

I thought we were done for, policeman tells jury

A West Mercia Police officer, accused of murdering former Villa footballer Dalian Atkinson, has told how he was scared for his own life.

Constable Benjamin Monk, told a jury at Birmingham Crown Court, he thought his partner and himself were “done for” when his Taser initially failed to stop Mr Atkinson.

Monk, aged 43, denies murder and manslaughter.

The prosecution claim he used unlawful and unreasonable force to stop Mr Atkinson by firing.
