8.0 Consultation Process

The Ministry of Justice is committed to effective public consultation on all its development proposals. It has carried out consultation events over the past four years in connection with the two outline planning applications for the new prison, and more recently in relation to the planning application for the new ditch course. We have learnt a great deal through these events about the issues which are of interest and concern to the communities that are local to the proposed prison, and to all other stakeholder groups who have an interest in the development, and have been mindful of those issues in preparing the Reserved Matters Application.

Our consultation ahead of the submission of the Reserved Matters Application represents the latest in the series of consultation events that started with those associated with the first outline planning application and have continued since. Our consultation is both online and 'face to face' so that it provides alternative ways to get involved and to review and comment on our proposals ahead of their submission to the Local Planning Authority.

As well as this online 'exhibition' which runs until 30 June, we are holding virtual consultation sessions with members of the community by way of webinars on the following dates and times:

- 7-8pm on Wednesday 16 June
- 7-8pm on Thursday 17 June
- 1-2pm on Friday 18 June

You can sign up to these at <https://consult.justice.gov.uk/digital-communications/reserved-matters-application-full-sutton>

We are also planning two face to face exhibitions in Full Sutton and Stamford Bridge on Monday 21 June and Tuesday 22 June, respectively, subject to government restrictions allowing us to do so. If we are unable to host these sessions in person, we will hold additional virtual sessions in their place.

This consultation gives you another opportunity to comment on the proposals, direct to the Ministry of Justice. You can send your feedback to the Ministry of Justice by 20:00 on 30 June 2021. Following this, the Ministry of Justice will prepare a 'Statement of Community Involvement' (SCI) and submit this to East Riding of Yorkshire Council with the Reserved Matters Application. The SCI will report on the points raised in the comments that we have received, and will provide the Ministry of Justice's responses to those matters. The SCI will be reviewed by the Council before it determines the planning application. Whilst your comments will be reported, your details will remain confidential.

Comments can be sent to us directly by email at the following address: fullsuttonenquiries@justice.gov.uk

Once the Reserved Matters Applications have been submitted, you will be able to make your comments formally to East Riding of Yorkshire Council directly.

9.0 Next Steps

The next step will be the preparation of the Reserved Matters Application and its submission to the Local Planning Authority. As well as the formal application forms and the detailed plan and drawings, the submission will include a Planning Statement, a Design Statement and the Statement of Community Involvement. At the same time the Ministry of Justice will submit the separate application for full planning permission for the workshop building. The detailed proposals for foul and surface water drainage works will also be submitted at the same time as the Reserved Matters Application, and to discharge the relevant drainage related conditions on the outline planning consent. We expect that the Local Planning Authority will consider and determine all three submissions at the same time given the relationships between them.

In due course, the Ministry of Justice will also submit a number of applications to discharge pre-commencement planning conditions, which must be dealt with before the main works can fully commence.

Certain early or 'enabling' works will progress (including the installation of the temporary construction access once details for its management have been agreed), as will the construction of the new ditch course.

The Ministry of Justice will continue to consult and keep the local community informed through the publication of its quarterly newsletter.

The broad 'timeline' from this point onwards is as follows

June 2021 - Public Consultation on detailed design of new prison, to inform the Reserved Matters application

July 2021 - Submission of Reserved Matters application

October 2021 - Decision on Reserved Matters application

October 2021-2025 - Discharge of planning conditions attached to Outline Planning Consent and Reserved Matters

2022-25 - Construction Period

2025 - Prison becomes operational

We hope that the information available here has been helpful in describing the process that the Ministry of Justice is following and in setting out the scope and content of the upcoming Reserved Matters Application.
