To whom it may concern,

I have been wanting Aldi to do this for years! I find it impossible to buy more than a basket worth from the current Aldi in the concourse as I cannot get my shopping easily to my car. I understand and can see that it seems to work for the shoppers that travel by taxi as they only have to get to the front and often abandon their trolleys there, but with a car and three children dragging the shopping back or pushing the trolley through a shopping centre, up a tiny lift out to the car park then taking all three kids back to return the trolley is unfeasible. Therefore I travel to Wigan or Standish Aldi for anything more than a couple of bits.

Yours,
