Subject: RE: Decking extension query

Good Afternoon Mr Shearer,

From looking at history of the application site I can see that permitted development rights have been removed, therefore planning permission will be required for the proposed decking. Permitted development normally covers these sort of small scale alterations to the property however they can be removed, and at the time of building "Lower Mill Estate" these were.

I have attached a linked to the Cotswold District Council website where you will be able to apply for planning permission and find appropriate guidance on how to compile an application.

Please note, the above comments represent an individual Officer's opinion only and are not binding to any future decision that the Local Planning Authority may make.

I hope the above explanation is of assistance.

Kind Regards,

Cameron

11. Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
(b) an elected member
(c) related to a member of staff
(d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

Yes No

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

Do any of the above statements apply?

12. Ownership Certificates and Agricultural Land Declaration

CERTIFICATE OF OWNERSHIP - CERTIFICATE A - Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order 2015 Certificate under Article 14

I certify/The applicant certifies that on the day 21 days before the date of this application nobody except myself/the applicant was the owner* of any part of the land or building to which the application relates, and that none of the land to which the application relates is, or is part of, an agricultural
