

We can confirm a structural survey is not necessary as the building was only completed in the year 2000 and is of modern construction.

The building is currently occupied with storage that is used daily and we can confirm there is no signs of roosting or nests.