Good morning.

Really sorry..I will have another look. I can imagine dealing with trained professional architects is SO much easier for you than amateurs like me!

I'll get back to you.

Kind regards
Richard

Good Morning

Thank you for the amended information received. I have printed out the plans and the scale bar does not correspond with the scale that is written on the plans. Perhaps you can send in a different format to see if this works. The plans I printed fit on A4 paper and I printed to actual size.

Kind Regards

Good Afternoon

Thank you for the amended information that has been saved.

Please can you add to the drawings what scale the drawings are and before re-sending check that the scale corresponds with the scale bar. The scale should be to a recognised scale which can be found on a scale rule.

Kind Regards

Good afternoon,

Further to emails last week, please find attached additional material which I trust now meets the requirements. You will note that I have re-used material previously submitted by Anglia Building Consultants. I have asked Nick Seaton if I can re-use some of this material and he has kindly agreed.

I'm happy to share that correspondence if required.

Kind regards

Richard
