As you are aware and make reference to, certain minor works to and within the garden of houses do not require an express grant of planning permission from the Local Planning Authority due to permission already having been granted by Central Government in the form of the General Permitted Development Order, and subject of course to further compliance with the size and location parameters set out within the Order. With specific reference to your application, I have assessed your proposal against the order to identify if it complies with the parameters or if planning permission would be required. Schedule 2, Part 1, Class A is the relevant section of the order for your proposal. Class A relates to 'enlargement, improvement or other alteration of a dwelling house'. I conclude that your proposal would not be deemed as 'Permitted Development' due to noncompliance with Class A, part (e), (ii) of the order which states: Development is not permitted if: the enlarged part of the dwellinghouse would extend beyond a wall which fronts a highway and forms a side elevation of the original dwellinghouse.
My view is that the 'principal' elevation of this property is that which is annotated as 'front elevation' on the submitted plans, and this proposal would, therefore, be extending beyond a wall which fronts a highway, and which forms a side elevation of the original dwellinghouse. Therefore, planning permission would be required and as such I have assessed this proposal against the relevant policies; DM2, DM24 and

CS3.

I can confirm that the proposal seems reasonable in principle and is subservient to the original dwelling house. The design is considered inkeeping with the streetscene and given its position both to highway and neighbouring properties it is felt that a sufficient separation distance between the proposal and neighbouring dwelling exists. Furthermore, there is no deemed detrimental effect on residential amenity in terms of loss of privacy, light or the proposal having an overbearing impact. I would suggest that there is a reasonable likelihood therefore of this proposal being successful at gaining planning permission should an application be submitted.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

Do any of the above statements apply?
