MORE INFO

English larch/Douglas Fir has striking colour variations from pinks, browns to creams depending on which part of the tree it is cut. There are some dark brown knots which can loosen as the wood dries, this occasionally results in resin patches that may ooze a little at first and some in the autumn and early summers. If left untreated english larch/douglas fir cladding fades to a greyish brown and as nature does it's work.

As well as being a very strong and a very hard-wearing wood, due to its natural oils, English Larch/Douglas Fir can prove to be twice as durable as common pine. It is available in a traditional style and offers a cost effective alternative to our oak cladding.

Our boards for the featheredge profile are cut on the diagonal, producing a feathered edge that overlaps when fitted, similar to roof tiles, thus giving that traditional look.

We offer the following section sizes:

- 150mm x 28mm reducing to 8mm at the feather
- 200mm x 28mm reducing to 8mm at the feather

Your boards will be supplied untreated. No treatments are required, however if you wish to preserve the supplied colour a little while longer or use a weather resistant sealant, please take a look at our Treatex range.

This cladding is for external use only. Please remember to make allowances for at least a 35mm overlap on each board (50mm is best) when making your calculations. If your boards are exposed to varying weather conditions before fitting, they are likely to cup, warp and split; the ideal time to fit cladding to keep this to a minimum is between the months of October and April and within 7 to 14 days of delivery.

The advertised price is per square metre and comes in random lengths unless otherwise specified for an additional charge:

- Set lengths up to 3500mm - £4.00 extra per square metre exc VAT
- Set lengths above 3500mm - £8.00 extra per square metre exc VAT

This can be done by adding the 'Set lengths (Cladding)' product to your basket (1 quantity = 1 square meter of cladding). You will need the same amount of cladding and set lengths in your basket to get the set lengths that you need so make sure to double check you have added the correct quantity.

Please contact our Sales Team on 01536 267 107 should you have any issues.

Still unsure? We offer up to two samples of our cladding boards for a £5 inc VAT postage charge. Should you wish to then purchase cladding boards that are the same product as your samples, we will reimburse you the £5 postage charge upon ordering!*
