Good morning ,

Many thanks for your email and additional information.

I can confirm that CIL form, 111 Form and Floor plans are sufficient and acceptable.

Unfortunately, the red line includes the whole residential boundary, if this application is for change the use of the entire site it will be acceptable. If only the annexe is to be used for the lets the red line should be edged around the area affected by the proposal only.

The red line should include the access to the let and the allocated curtilage for your customers , red line on both - location plan and block plan should be scalable and identical, please correct and resend.

I hope this is helpful, should you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact me on details below.

Kind Regards,

Sandra Homcenko MSc, BA (Hons), Technical Support Officer
