Requirement for Planning Permission

The Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) Order 2015 refers to permitted development rights for a range of development not requiring planning permission. I have considered the content of your enquiry and conclude that planning permission is not required for the proposed development. This only applies if the proposed rear extension extends beyond the rear wall of the original dwellinghouse by no more than 3 metres. Planning permission or prior approval will be required if the proposed development extends beyond the rear wall of the original dwellinghouse by approximately 3.3 metres as shown on the submitted Site & Roof Layout plan.

Lawful Development Certificate

If planning permission is not required a Lawful Development Certificate provides a legal document stating the lawfulness of past, present or future development. If granted by the local planning authority, the certificate means that enforcement action cannot be carried out against the development referred to and is a legal document which may be required if you come to sell your property in the future.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

Do any of the above statements apply?

- Yes
- No
