Conclusion

In view of the above it is clear that the decision-making process for the determination of any application is therefore to assess whether the adverse impacts of granting planning permission for the proposed development would significantly and demonstrably outweigh the benefits or whether there are specific policies in the framework that protect areas or assets of particular importance which provide a clear reason for refusing the development proposed. Whilst the proposed buildings are not considered worthy of retention or conversion and there is insufficient information to advise whether the dwelling would comply with the neighbourhood plan, in this instance given the tilted balance is engaged, officers do not consider that there are any significant or demonstrable harms that outweigh the minimal benefit of one additional dwelling in a relatively sustainable location in terms of the principle of development.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

- No
