Section A-A

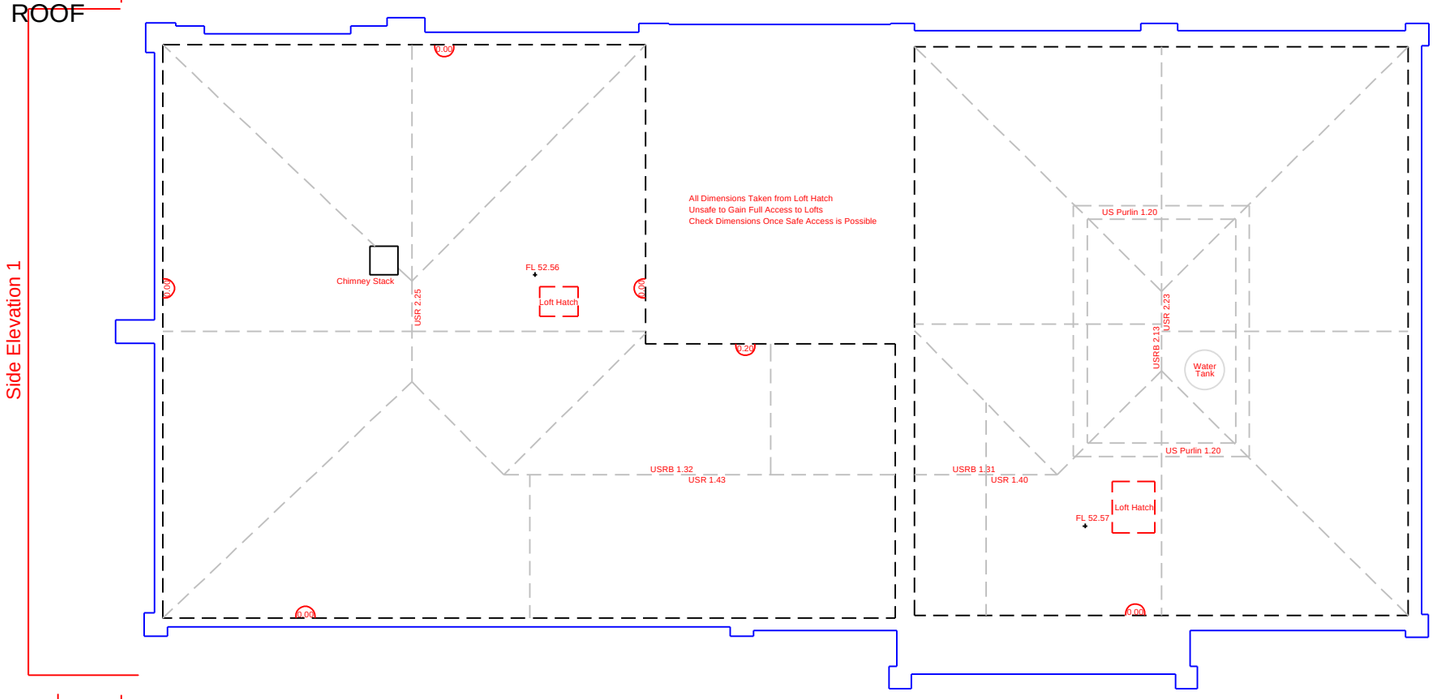
Rear Elevation

ROOF

Tie Point

Side Elevation 1

Section B-B



Side Elevation 2

Section B-B

Tie Point

Loft Space

Front Elevation

Section A-A

1:100 Scale Metric - graduations in Metres / 500mm / 100mm

Any discrepancies between the Building Regulations and these drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the site must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Structural Engineer's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Party Wall Surveyor's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Building Control Officer's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Planning Officer's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Highways Officer's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Environmental Health Officer's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Fire Officer's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Water Authority's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Gas Board's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Electricity Board's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the British Telecom's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Cable Company's drawings must be brought to the attention of the Architect before any work is commenced. Any discrepancies between these drawings and the Local Authority