Highden Estate is a country wedding venue located in Washington, West Sussex. This setting offers a picturesque backdrop immersed in South Downs National Park in the heart of England's countryside. It covers nearly 1,000 acres of woodland and lush fields, offering exclusivity and serenity. This venue has been owned and managed by the Denman family for more than 80 years, and they take great pride in maintaining its natural beauty. In the estate, you'll find a walled garden, a field, and a forest school where you can host a celebration. This wedding venue is easily accessible, with Gatwick Airport being just 40 minutes away, while Horsham train station takes 20 minutes to reach by car.

Facilities and Capacity

The walled garden at Highden Estate offers a romantic backdrop where couples can celebrate their love story. The garden also offers the use of a marquee, offering shelter despite the season. It dates back to the Victorian era and has been lovingly maintained, adding a touch of historic charm to the venue.
