Description of Proposed Works

Please describe the proposals to alter, extend or demolish the listed building(s)

We wish to replace a large (1140mm x 2390 mm) feature arched window on our staircase. This is a North facing single glazed wood-framed, non-opening window on the 1st floor. The current window was likely to have been inserted when the property was converted to apartments in 2004.

The bottom of the frame and the Westerly upright are completely rotten and beyond repair. This is largely due to the fact that condensation collects on the inside of the single glazed glass and then drips down onto the bottom of the frame which pools there and rots the wood.

We would like to replace the window with a double glazed unit in hard wood. This will prevent condensation and therefore increase the longevity of the replaced window. A double-glazed unit will also keep the cold out and the heat in resulting in improved fuel economy and less loss of heat to the environment. As a first floor window it is above head height from the external viewpoint and therefore it is unlikely anyone would notice it is a double glazed unit. The external appearance would be like for like with the current window.

We would like to replace the window with a unit having the same detail hardwood, with one thick double glazed unit with duplex bard and hardwood beading inside and outside.

We are reluctant to use a single glazed unit because of the poor fuel economy, heat loss to the environment (DG units will reduce heat loss by up to 74%) and inevitable recurrence of condensation induced rotting.

We have previously replaced 2 ground floor sash windows as single glazed units (Ref: PP-9709942) and added internal secondary glazing to prevent heat loss, however using secondary glazing for this feature window is not an option since it would ruin the internal appearance and the frame of the secondary glazing unit would overhang the actual glass because of a narrow internal frame and a bowed wall on one side.

Details of the pre-application advice received

1. Where historic windows, whether original or later insertions, make a positive contribution to the significance of a listed building they should be retained and repaired where possible. If beyond repair they should be replaced with accurate copies.
2. Where historic windows have already been replaced with windows whose design follows historic patterns, these usually make a positive contribution to the significance of listed buildings. When they do, they should therefore be retained and repaired where possible. If beyond repair they should be replaced with accurate copies.
3. Where historic windows or replacement windows of historic pattern survive without historic glass it may be possible to introduce slim-profile double-glazing without harming the significance of the listed building. There are compatibility issues to consider as the introduction of double-glazing can require the renewal of the window frame to accommodate thicker glazing, thereby harming significance. These issues are covered in Section 4 of this guidance. < < Contents 63
4. Where historic windows have been replaced with ones whose design does not follow historic patterns, these are unlikely to contribute to the significance of listed buildings. Replacing such windows with new windows of a sympathetic historic pattern, whether single-glazed or incorporating slim-profile double-glazing, may cause no additional harm. It also provides an opportunity to enhance the significance of the building, which is the desired outcome under national policy.
5. Where a new window or re-glazing is agreed, the reflective properties of secondary and double-glazing as compared to modern, polished single-glazing, do not usually harm the significance of the building. But when new multi-paned windows are proposed, the desirability of reproducing broken reflections by individually glazing each pane should be considered. Where the aesthetic value of the building is high, then the impact on the whole of the relevant elevation should be considered, including the desirability of accurately matching other windows.

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
