Dear Sirs,

Following your rejection of the previous application, I attach revised Application for approval of details reserved by condition.

Included with the application are the correct details of the windows and doors from Input Joinery.

I also attach:

Photographs of the windows and doors of the outbuilding before the work started; and

Photographs of a typical window at the house at Lees Farm itself.

The house at Lees Farm is the only remaining listed part of the dwelling, the old separately listed barn having been destroyed by fire in 2011. This was rebuilt as a modern version of the old barn.

The windows and doors for the present works have been specifically chosen to compliment the agricultural appearance of the rebuilt barn. On any view, the new windows and doors are a significant improvement on the existing.

As ever, should you require any further information, please feel free to contact me by email or telephone.

Yours sincerely

Robert Evans
