

Views of the school from nearby residences

The school is set back on its site from the nearest road and mostly surrounded by fields with an allotment to the right of the building.

Northallerton Road has a new houses at the end of the road that have sight of the school (below). But the school building is shielded by a tree lined driveway.

The school grounds are accessed from Westminster Road where a couple of homes are situated close to the edge of the school site.

Above: View of the school from the end of Northallerton Road closest to the school

Below: School entrance from Westminster Road showing tree-lined approach

Left: Trees shield the school site from the local houses off Westminster Place.

