"I would advise the applicant that a proposed boundary and gates at 1.5 metres high more than likely wouldn't be viewed favourably either due to similar impacts between this and the initial proposal. Similar to the screen shot I sent to you for 207 Sktechley Road in Burbage, I would advise that a brick wall of a metre with pillars and railings of up to 1.2 metres would be viewed more favourably as to retain the open low level boundary character of the street scene. The gates would have to be of a similar height to this. The bricks pillars at 1.2 metres high (and the pillars for the gates) wouldn't be too high to block visibility for the vehicles exiting the front drive well. This mitigates potential harm to pedestrian safety whilst the vehicle is leaving the front drive."
