Dear Mr Jones

Thank you for your above re-submission. I note that you have altered the proposed design and footprint of the proposed dwelling and have provided a protected species survey alongside the submission. The proposed site plan however remains the same as the previously refused application and therefore does not reflect the changes to the proposed dwelling. Without an updated site plan I cannot understand the proposed siting and layout. I would therefore be grateful if you could provide this at your earliest convenience.

Kind regards

Charlotte
