

The proposed garden studio seamlessly integrates with the existing village structures, honouring the prevalent Tudor design. Balancing functionality with aesthetics, it enhances the surroundings and offers a versatile space for the property owner. Careful attention to architectural character is evident in the studio's design, from material choices to the colour palette, ensuring a harmonious fit with the Tudor style. The studio's scale aligns proportionally with neighbouring buildings, maintaining a cohesive appearance.

Strategic planning enables easy access for property owners, with thoughtful integration into the environment. Adequate parking within the property boundaries prevents encroachment on public areas. Sustainability takes centre stage in the studio's design, incorporating eco-friendly materials and energy-efficient features, the development minimises its ecological footprint.