To whom it may concern

I have been visiting this yard since at least 1990 to have my car repaired. Peter Keyton was living there at this time in 1987 for several years while working on site. I have also visited Luke Keyton, also a car mechanic, when he lived there in a caravan with his wife Yvonne, now deceased, from approx 2004 until the council rehoused them in 2018.

Peter Keyton and his wife also lived at the yard in a self built home while between homes.

This is land that they own and on which they have run a car repair business for for all this time, a period of many decades.

I had a friend called Debbie Gifford who is now 50+ who told me that she was born at the Yard in the late 1960s, her family lived there when she was growing up.

Please contact me for further information if required.
