2.3.3 Side extensions:

(1) Single storey proposals to extend at the side of a property up to the site boundary and within the depth of the property will normally be acceptable providing that the design matches the existing house. With plots that have at least 4 metres between the flank wall of the dwelling and the site boundary, the extension should be set at least 1 metre from the boundary.

(2) Two storey side or first floor extensions over existing accommodation should be designed to be subordinate to the main dwelling. Ideally this should incorporate a set-back of the front elevation of the extension. The roof plane of the extension should respect the roof plane of the original house, thereby lowering the ridge line.

(3) New two storey side extensions on plots with at least 4m between the flank wall of the dwelling and the site boundary should be set in at least 1m from the boundary.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
