Biodiversity net gain

Householder developments are currently exempt from biodiversity net gain requirements.

However, this exemption still needs to be confirmed by the applicant or agent when making a householder planning permission application.

I/we confirm that the proposed development, if granted permission, would be exempt from the general biodiversity gain condition.

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended) sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'general biodiversity gain condition'.

However, the 'general biodiversity gain condition' does not apply in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of Article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order 2015 (as amended).

Site Visit

Can the site be seen from a public road, public footpath, bridleway or other public land?

A small extension in the same materials as the present kitchen would provide additional storage and a covered porch. The overall height of the new addition could match the present zinc roof, or ideally sit just below this to help reduce the impact of the new extension.

The form of the new extension could mirror the curious angles and junctions between 1, 3 & 5 Farleigh Road. JB was keen to retain the quion detail to the left of the present front door as this is a significant and largely intact feature of the building. The possibility of designing a glazed junction at this point to preserve the quions, retain a visual link and create a separation with the new built form was considered a positive design feature. The proposed small extension was generally considered acceptable in principle, subject to a sympathetic design and careful detailing.

The first floor arched window could potentially be an early example given the simple mechanism where the lower section only slides vertically across the fixed upper section, without the aid of weights or pulleys and is held in position by a series of pegs. Previous repairs are failing and rust staining from surface fixed brackets is apparent. The window is extremely difficult to open in it's present condition. Given that the window is potentially early, careful repair and conservation would be the only acceptable way forward.

The ground floor windows are all new sliding sash windows, fitted into original full height arched openings. They all have square heads with a solid infill to the arched section over. The middle window has slimmer, glazing bars with moulding details. The windows either side have thicker, squared frame and glazing bar sections. Despite the 1831 date stone inside the building suggesting that it is Victorian, JB considered the georgian style windows appropriate in the setting. Current guidance would preclude double glazing in these windows, even slim 'heritage' units. Secondary glazing would be considered acceptable, subject to approval of details.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

Do any of the above statements apply?

- Yes
- No

Ownership Certificates and Agricultural Land Declaration

Certificates under Article 14 - Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order 2015 & Regulation 6 - Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Regulations 1990

Please answer the following questions to determine which Certificate of Ownership you need to complete: A, B, C or D.

Is the applicant the sole owner of all the land to which this application relates; and has the applicant been the sole owner for more than 21 days?

- Yes
- No

Is any of the land to which the application relates part of an Agricultural Holding?

- Yes
- No

Certificate Of Ownership - Certificate A

I certify/The applicant certifies that on the day 21 days before the date of this application nobody except myself/the applicant was the owner* of any part of the land or building to which the application relates, and that none of the land to which the application relates is, or is part of, an agricultural holding

* 'owner' is a person with a freehold interest or leasehold interest with at least 7 years left to run.

 'agricultural holding' has the meaning given by reference to the definition of 'agricultural tenant' in section 65(8) of the Act.

NOTE: You should sign Certificate B, C or D, as appropriate, if you are the sole owner of the land or building to which the application relates but the land is, or is part of, an agricultural holding.
