Replacement of existing conservatory with a single storey rear extension

Has the work already been started without consent?

Yes

No

Explanation for Proposed Demolition Work

Why is it necessary to demolish all or part of the building(s) and/or structure(s)?

It is only proposed to demolish an existing conservatory to the rear of the property to make way for a replacement extension.

The existing conservatory is coming to the end of its life span and requires repair. Due to its construction and orientation the space is largely underutilised and therefore, as opposed to repair, the applicant would like to replace it with a more usable well insulated extension.

The replacement is considered to be an enhancement to the appearance of the property.

Biodiversity net gain

Householder developments are currently exempt from biodiversity net gain requirements.

However, this exemption still needs to be confirmed by the applicant or agent when making a householder planning permission application.

I/we confirm that the proposed development, if granted permission, would be exempt from the general biodiversity gain condition.

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended) sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'general biodiversity gain condition'.

However, the 'general biodiversity gain condition' does not apply in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of Article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order 2015 (as amended).
