

Site History

Bishops Waltham is a small rural town in Southampton. The town is set in the Hamble Valley at the tributary of the River Hamble and is a designated conservation area. With an interesting heritage and reminders of a once thriving 19th century market town, many Georgian and other listed buildings remain and contribute to the special character of this delightful, semi-rural community.

Bank Street is no different in its reference to the styles and building types that are within the conservation area. Bank Street, which is just adjacent to the main High Street, hosting a variety of amenities, proves to be a main access point through the town. With Bank End in particular, being situated on a key road junction.

The site is within the Bishop Waltham conservation Area. Bank End, Midi Cote and Croit Anna, formerly listed as Croit Anna & Bank End, was previously five cottages adjoining White Hart Cottages on the east. The now 3 properties are all Grade 2 listed buildings.

Historical image showing Midi-cote in the 1800's

The Proposal

To replace four existing windows with new flush casement / conventional cottage style windows as per drawings supplied.

The appearance of the new windows will be in keeping with the character of the building. They will be very similar to the existing windows and that of the neighbouring properties on either side.

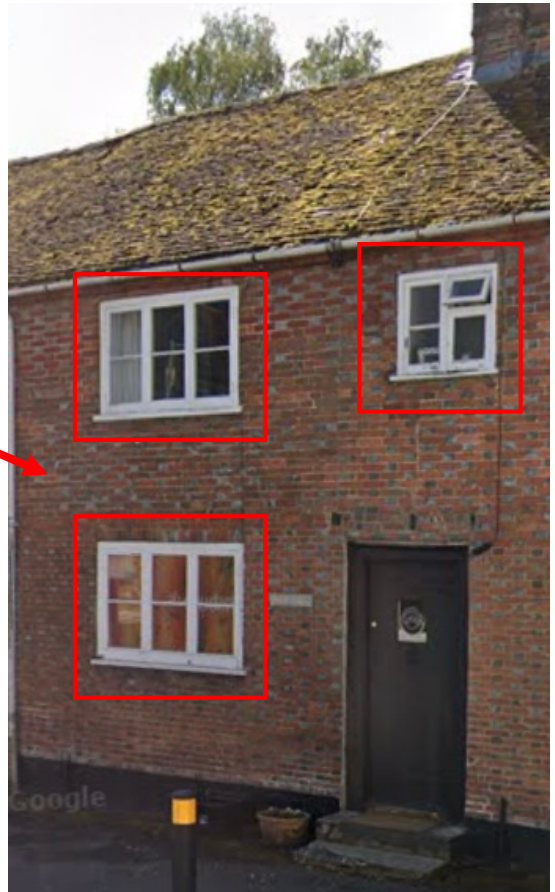

The new timber windows will be double glazed (slimline) with pane thickness of 14mm (4/6/4) and white internal fillers.

The astrical bar will be puttied in as existing.

The hardware will include peardrop black handles and pegstays.

Rear Elevation

Front Elevation

