Hi Vasugi,

I am doing the drawings to help my friends Ian and Julie, who own the property.

I assume you mean the existing windows to the ground floor WC, Hall and first floor Bathroom?

These windows are existing and not changing. I therefore chose to indicate a section through the house to show the inside elevation of the proposed extension.

I can produce a further part elevation, but it will not alter, as indicated in plan? I am currently on leave until 25th March, but I will make sure to get the information over to you as soon as I return, (assuming it is needed)?

Many thanks and have a great weekend.

Steve
