Hi

That seems fine. I'm happy with that if you feel it gives the necessary clarity.

Have a great Easter

Good Afternoon,

Many thanks for this clarification, please advise if you are happy with the below description of the works proposed:

Pine - Remove 3 limbs from the top of each fork and remove one limb touching the electrical cables which are running through the tree

Two Norway Maples and one Oak - Crown reduce back to previous reduction points

Many Thanks

Sharon Embleton

Many thanks for your quick response.

The pine tree in question does have two distinct "stems" where the main trunk splits. Hopefully the attached photos will make it clearer.

Kind regards
