G1- a group of 6 ash trees, fell to ground level. 5 day notice.

Nick Conway has been out to site and agrees the trees need removing because all the trees have heave and children play under the trees and it is a safety issue as 2 oak trees have fallen from the council land into the area and it has made the trees more open to the wind when it blows through and some of the roots are showing decay in. It is a major safety hazard.

T1- oak tree- fell to ground level.

Again it is a safety hazard as the lean on the tree is going over gardens where children play and it is all weighted on the side of the lean and also has heave so it could fail at anytime and if there's kids under it then it would kill them.

T2- ash-

This ash has heave as well and people walk under it daily, it has heave again and lifting slabs to make it a trip hazard. It has been badly pruned in the past and it has signs of ash die back.

The customer is happy to re-plant with trees suggested by the council, which I think hornbeams would be nice or flowering cherrys etc.
