I have a 6ft fence with a 1m border in front of it then a path. would I be able to plant a red robin hedge in the 1m border to screen the fence. The hedge would be south facing with sun most of the day.

Thank you for your enquiry. There would be room to plant a photinia hedge in the 1m border but (as with any hedge) it would need to be trimmed so as not to encroach on the path. Hope this helps.
