Details of the pre-application advice received

A full set of plans and elevations of the existing house and the proposed extension and garage conversion were submitted to RB Greenwich. Advice provided in an online meeting highlighted that, due to prior approval rights having been removed from the application site, the extension was too long as it fell under a householder application.

An alternative arrangement to reconfigure the extension was suggested at the meeting and it was agreed to submit revised drawings asap in order to gain the benefit of further advice of the proposal

Revised drawings of an alternative extension design which was sized to comply with the required 3.6m maximum length were submitted prior to the provision of the formal pre application duty planner advice note from RB Greenwich.

RB Greenwich duty planner advice confirmed that the revised design would be considered to be acceptable and could be supported in principle.

Further advice was provided regarding the requirement of the provision of site sections and basic flood mapping data which has been prepared for submission.
